

FREDERICK COUNTY PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Educational Partnerships Annual Report 2022/2023

Dear Community Partners:

In Frederick County Public Schools, we follow a simple mission: To provide an exceptional and equitable education for every child, every day. For our more than 7,300 employees, that means meeting the needs of almost 48,000 students.

All of our students experience a learning journey with us so they will be college and career ready upon graduation. We are so fortunate in Frederick County to have many businesses and nonprofit partners who help students on every step of their learning journey. Hundreds of partners are listed in this year's directory.

Some of our partners choose to support individual schools in their community. Others are systemic partners supporting public education county-wide. No matter how you help, I am so grateful that you do. You are truly making a difference!

FCPS is the fastest growing school district in Maryland by student population. As families choose to make Frederick County home, we will continue to need your support. We are always looking for opportunities for our students and we remain open to new partnerships and new ideas. I look forward to the continued partnership to benefit our students.

Our path forward is strong because of your continued partnership. Thank you for all you do in joining FCPS to serve every child, every day.

Thank you!

FCPS depends on the support of the business community for many reasons, including to bolster student achievement. Through partnerships, students can expand their learning horizons, follow their passions, improve their grades, and develop connections. The generosity of Frederick County businesses and nonprofits impact every child every day.

For decades, economic development and business leaders throughout Frederick County have touted the local education system as a top reason for companies relocating to our community. High quality schools benefit everyone. Employers and families want to relocate to vibrant, healthy areas where students have all the resources they need to be successful. Some of our county's top employers, including AstraZeneca, Nymeo Federal Credit Union, Leidos Biomedical Research, and Hood College are among thousands of local businesses contributing to Frederick County's economy and to the betterment of FCPS.

34th Student House Project

For 45 years, the FCPS Career & Technology Center Student House Project has provided real-world experience for the students in the trades programs.

The 34th Student House Project is located at 111 W 13th Street. The two-story structure is a total of 2,063 square feet, which includes three bedrooms, 3.5 bathrooms, a first-floor office, and an unfinished basement. The projected completion date is April 2024.

The Student House Project is completely funded through the efforts of the Frederick County Student Construction Trades Foundation, Inc. – a 501(c)3 non-profit. Each house project is typically completed over the course of two school years. Students complete 80-85% of all work with the remaining completed by our industry partners and contributors.

Local student house projects began in 1978 when educators and business representatives came together to develop an opportunity for students to learn about careers in the construction trades. The program includes instruction in computer-aided design, construction, electricity, HVAC/plumbing, environmental landscape design and management, carpentry and cabinet making.

In addition to the Frederick County Student Construction Trades Foundation providing the opportunity, FCPS provides the training facility, instructors and equipment at the CTC. The FCPS Transportation Department provides the bus service and maintains the vehicles required to transport equipment. Also critical to the program's success are partnerships with local businesses and construction professionals. On the last project, more than 100 businesses donated time and/or materials. ★

A special thank you to Amazon, who donated hard hats, small tool bags, and high-visibility safety vests to FCPS Career & Technology Center students.

United Way

Stuff the Bus

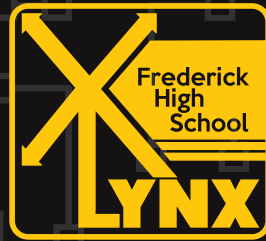

Each year generous Frederick County businesses and citizens help students start school with the necessary supplies that some families cannot provide. This year was no exception. The 15th annual Stuff the Bus school-supply drive ran from June through July with more than 30 Frederick businesses and organizations participating.

Supplies collected ranged from backpacks and composition books to loose-leaf paper, pocket folders, glue sticks, rulers, safety scissors, pens and pencils, highlighters and erasers.

Special acknowledgement goes to the Religious Coalition for Emergency Human Needs for supporting the Backpacks for Bright Futures project, which distributed school supplies to students in the Frederick City feeder schools in partnership with Stuff the Bus. ★

LINKING YOUTH TO NEW EXPERIENCES

Empowered Learners

For the sixth consecutive year, LYNX partners provided Frederick High School (FHS) scholars with a wide range of career and college learning experiences!

During the 2022-2023 school year, over 1000 FHS students took advantage of opportunities to learn from LYNX partners through hands-on experiential learning activities, the “soft skills” series, mock interviews, and work-based learning opportunities such as internships and work study.

Through LYNX -- Linking Youth to New eXperiences -- Frederick High School students have ongoing opportunities outside the traditional classroom to participate in career-related activities that connect to learning standards. Since LYNX began in September 2017, LYNX scholars have engaged in “LYNX experiences” with over 180 partners who generously give their time and expertise to guide students to become empowered learners and engaged citizens.

When asked, “What does LYNX mean to you?” our students responded: opportunity, support, networking, and community. FHS scholars in grades 9-12 appreciate the ongoing interactions with LYNX partners and are eager to share the positive impact on their high school experience:

I have participated in countless LYNX experiences, each one providing me valuable knowledge. My end goal is to become a doctor and the LYNX experiences helped strengthen and give me more knowledge in how I can attain it. I have also learned to develop my soft and leadership skills. LYNX helped me orient and develop crucial skills/mindsets toward entering a career/college. They also helped explore different routes and opportunities in life rather than the status quo. – Grade 12

It helped me explore opportunities that I would normally not have, to rule out options that I don't like and expand my knowledge about the ones that I do. – Grade 11

These LYNX experiences helped show me different volunteer opportunities and internship opportunities that I have already applied to, or am going to apply for in the future. I have been to many college visits as well, which helped me decide what type of college I would like to go to in the future. – Grade 10

Participating in LYNX experiences has helped me shape my career/college goals because it showed me what type of job I want to do in the future. I know that I want to do something that interests me. I realized that in my careers in American Sign Language experience, that freelance is something that could be good for me and that I want to be in control of myself. – Grade 9

“LYNX has shown me what real jobs and careers look like past high school. By bringing in real adults who can share their story from beginning to end, you get a glimpse into what your future can look like. I love this program because you can get the ins and outs of a career quickly, without the commitment of a degree or training in a field you might later realize is not for you. Because of LYNX, once I graduate I will have a direct path and goals set that let me create the future I want to build.”

– Allison, FHS Class of 2023

Business and community partners continue to express the reasons they actively participate with LYNX: to positively influence students' lives, introduce students to career fields, engage in meaningful partnerships, and build a productive workforce. Our LYNX partners shared:

I'm thrilled every year to reach 20-30 students interested in my line of work and share my experiences and knowledge.

The students had genuine questions and interest in the aspects of a law enforcement career.

Not only did I speak with them about the electrical industry, I also was able to impart some of my own experiences and wisdom during the conversation. I encouraged each of them to find their purpose, and to make sure their future workplace was aligned with their goals.

The specific level of questions was striking, showing how some of them really were interested in the project...but also careers in architecture/engineering in general.

I enjoy speaking with the students and hope to provide them insight into our company and industry. Our main goal is to build knowledge and excitement for the security industry with the hopes of attracting future employees.

The most rewarding aspect of this experience was that I was able to share the great work we do ...and tie this in to what the students are currently learning in their respective classes. We are also presenting them with future career paths that they might not have considered before.

One student was clearly interested in my field, but reserved in that way that students are when they don't want their classmates to know how excited they really are. At the end of the off-site experience, the young man came up to me, shook my hand, and said “sir, this place has a great vibe. It's legit, for real!” I can imagine no greater praise from a high school student in 2022!

As always, it is very rewarding to see the impact on the students. I could, literally, see the light go off in their head. One of the students shook my hand and genuinely thanked me for some of the life advice I shared. Those are the moments that make the LYNX experiences special and why I love being a partner.

Every time I do this, it restores my hope for the future.

Thank you to all of our business and community partners who bring LYNX to life for the students of Frederick High School! ★

Vision to Learn

FCPS partnered with several businesses and nonprofits to bring vision care services directly to students at two elementary schools for no associated costs.

During the 2022-23 school year, Hillcrest Elementary and Waverley Elementary launched a pilot school-based vision program that helped identify children who may need eye glasses or treatment for an eye condition.

“We are deeply appreciative of the many partnerships who helped make this opportunity for our students and families possible,” FCPS Superintendent Dr. Cheryl L. Dyson said. “By identifying potential vision challenges and providing glasses, students will literally see their world differently.”

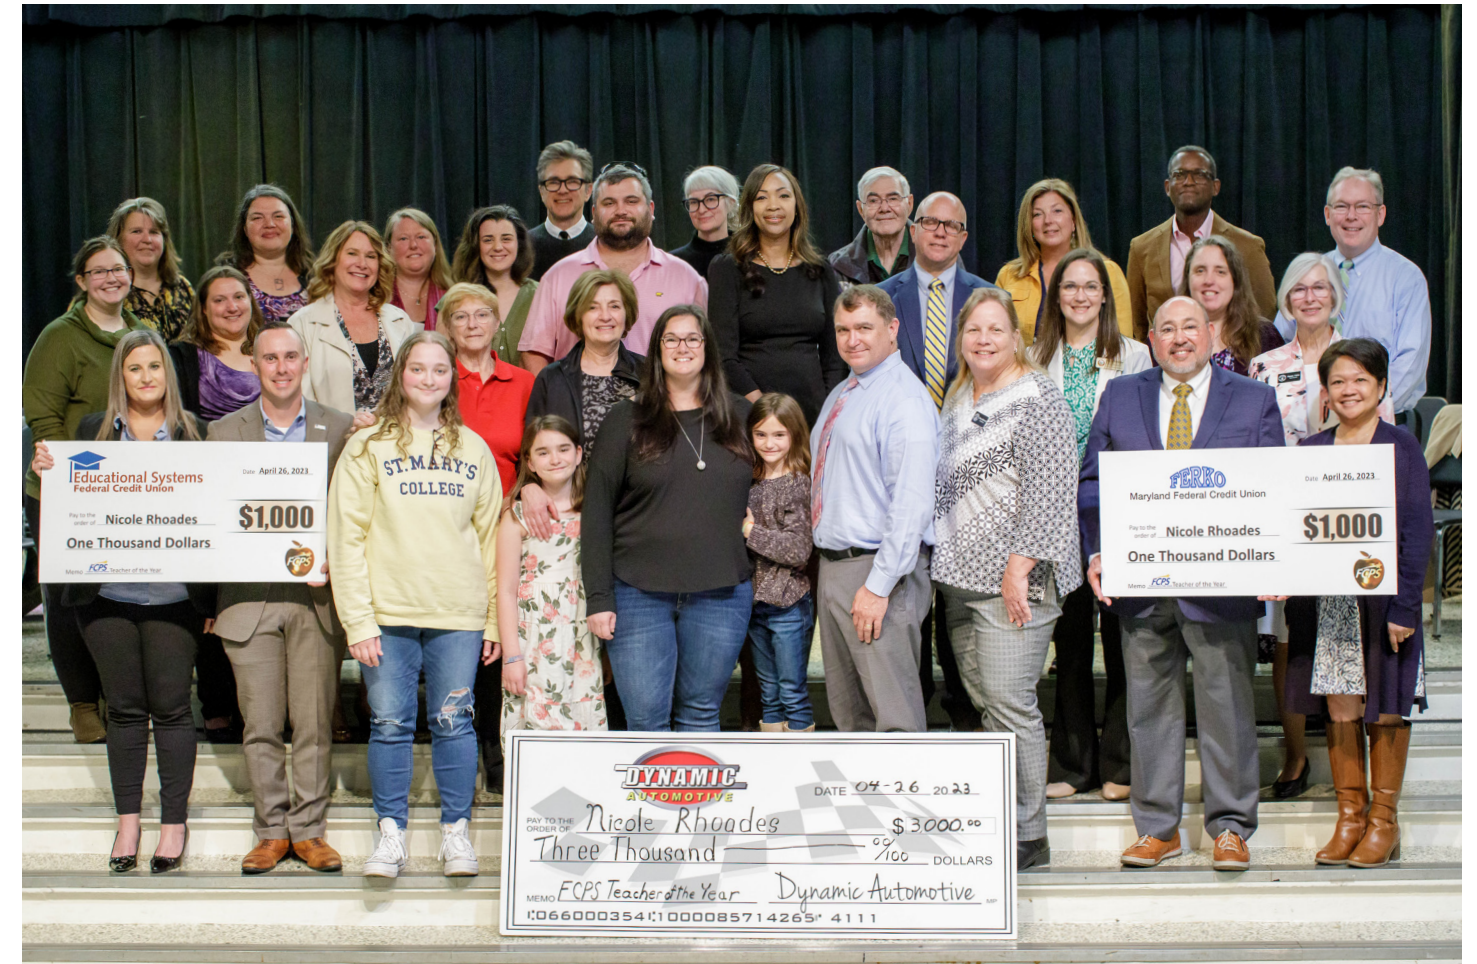

In the Frederick pilot, more than 25 percent of students have been referred from various vision screenings, suggesting they need glasses in order to see clearly. The school-based vision program at Hillcrest and Waverley brings vision care services to children directly at their schools, with no associated cost to the students. The program is a collaboration between FCPS; the Frederick County Health Department; Vision To Learn, a national nonprofit optometric provider; Warby Parker, an eyeglasses retailer; and researchers from the Johns Hopkins University Wilmer Eye Institute.

The pilot program provides vision screenings and, when necessary, eye exams and eyeglasses to over 1,000 kindergarten-fifth grade students.

In December, Vision To Learn’s mobile exam clinic came to the schools to conduct eye exams for students who have opted to participate in the program. After the exams, students who require eyeglasses will choose their frames. Within a few weeks, the eyeglasses will be delivered to the schools, where an optician will fit students with their new eyeglasses.

The program partners hope to expand the program to other FCPS schools based on their experiences from operating the pilot this year. ★

Teacher of the Year

The FCPS Teacher of the Year Award is the county’s most prestigious award for teachers. Each school has the opportunity to select one School-Level Teacher of the Year to represent them throughout the FCPS selection process. Each of the state’s 24 school systems selects a Teacher of the Year who serves as a teacher ambassador. One of these local winners is named the Maryland Teacher of the Year and goes on to compete for the title of National Teacher of the Year.

Science teacher Nicole Rhoades was named the 2023–24 FCPS Teacher of the Year and was one of seven finalists for the Maryland Teacher of the Year award. Rhoades is a National Board Certified Teacher and the first FCPS Teacher of the Year from Windsor Knolls Middle.

“We are so proud of Ms. Rhoades and this impressive accomplishment,” FCPS Superintendent Dr. Cheryl L. Dyson said. “This is a significant honor for a teacher who serves as a leader at her school, supports science teachers across the district and inspires so many students.”

This is the second consecutive year a FCPS educator was named a Maryland State Teacher of the Year finalist. Last year, Jonathan Kurtz, Coordinator for the Academy for the Fine Arts at Gov. Thomas Johnson High, was also named a Maryland Teacher of the Year finalist.

The 24 Teacher of the Year ambassadors from each county meet regularly for professional development and collaboration opportunities throughout the year. We are grateful for our sponsors, who support our FCPS Teacher of the Year by providing gifts that help offset expenses as they travel around the state. Teacher of the Year sponsors are Dynamic Automotive, FERKO Maryland Federal Credit Union and Educational Systems Federal Credit Union. ★

BNBI

Battelle National Biodefense Institute

Promoting STEM Education

The Battelle National Biodefense Institute (BNBI) and FCPS recognized the recipients of $50,000 in teacher challenge grants for science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) education.

Representatives from BNBI and FCPS went to nine schools to surprise 15 teachers and their students with the news that their STEM proposals had been selected as winners. This year's challenge grants ranged from $1,200 to $15,000. The winning proposals came from the following schools:

- Catoclin High - Using MiniOne Electrophoresis Apparatuses to Visualize DNA in the Modern Classroom
- Emmitsburg Elementary - Maximizing Learning with Virtual Reality
- Frederick High and Gov. Thomas Johnson High - Engineering for Young Scholars
- Myersville Elementary - Chicks in the Classroom
- Oakdale High - VEX Robotic Workcell Capstone Project
- Tuscarora High - CyberTitans STEM Outreach and Hardware Upgrades
- Walkersville High and Middletown High - Environmental and Biotechnology Experiences
- Walkersville High - Science Student Success
- Woodsboro Elementary - Pre-K STEM Exploration Center

“Our staff has always loved working with FCPS on STEM outreach, and it was so much fun seeing the creativity, imagination, and innovation in the projects that these teachers proposed.” said BNBI President, Dr. Nicholas Bergman. “I’m thrilled that we could support them with this program, and grateful to the staff throughout FCPS who helped make this such a rewarding experience for not just the teachers and students but also for the scientists from BNBI.”

The FCPS/BNBI STEM partnership was established in 2009 with the long-term goal of getting more students interested in and better prepared to major in math, the hard sciences or engineering in college. ★

Wags for Hope

The new FCPS partnership with local Frederick-based nonprofit organization Wags for Hope brings joy to students and staff via volunteers and their canine pals.

Through this partnership, well-trained, certified Wags for Hope dogs can be placed in FCPS programs that provide comfort and caring through a canine-human bond. Wags for Hope volunteers provide support for students and families who may benefit from specialized learning opportunities. Wags for Hope representatives are also able to support students who need additional supports, based on school counselor recommendations.

Jamie Hendi, Facilities Coordinator from Wags for Hope, said the partnership has been great so far.

The group has visited at the elementary, middle and high school levels and so far has averaged about 5-8 school visits a month.

The partnership is intended to create a common sense of purpose by setting mutually agreed upon objectives relative to FCPS' Strategic Goals. For example, Aspirational Goal 4 calls for FCPS to nurture relationships with families and the entire community. Interacting and spending time with the dogs has proven to relieve stress and bring smiles. ★

"We've gotten requests to help students who struggle in reading, have been invited to literacy and math nights and special events. It has been incredibly beneficial to both staff and students."

- Jamie Hendi

Go Team Therapy Dogs

There was no whimpering or whining, only happy tail wags as FCPS and Go Team Therapy, Crisis, and Airport Dogs, Inc. (Go Team Therapy Dogs) declared an official partnership last fall.

The Go Team Therapy Dog teams are well trained and certified to visit FCPS programs in an effort to provide comfort and care through interactions with the dogs. Volunteers with Go Team Therapy Dogs provide support for students and families who may benefit from specialized learning opportunities such as Learning for Life programs, Expressions programs, Pyramid programs, Rock Creek School and crisis visits.

Crisis visits can be conducted one class at a time or the volunteers can meet with students one-to-one or in small groups with the dogs. Specialized programs are for small groups of students to visit with the dogs. These visits typically last around 15 minutes. ★

"Whether it is a crisis, a Reading/Math Night, a visit to a specialized program or even visiting the Board of Education, as soon as the dogs walk into a room you feel a change in attitudes and watch students and staff start to smile."

- Francine Baldi

National Inventors Hall of Fame

During the summer months, elementary school-aged students developed their science, technology, education and math skills through sessions filled with discovery in a comprehensive program via the National Inventors Hall of Fame.

At Frederick County Public Schools, the goal is for students to graduate college and career ready. And part of that learning journey to graduation is discovery and hands-on lessons.

The National Inventors Hall of Fame, celebrating 50 years, offers just that through its summer programming. The Ohio-based nonprofit strives to inspire emerging creators and entrepreneurs through its education programs.

Summer programming is created through a simple four-step process:

1. The National Inventors Hall of Fame inducts world-changing inventors into the Hall of Fame.
2. Work one-on-one with each new inductee class to learn about their unique innovation journeys.
3. Take those stories and integrate them into STEM programs.
4. Help tomorrow's innovators realize their potential through impactful, hands-on experiences.

FCPS students were fortunate to learn some of those lessons. Perhaps a student taking advantage of these opportunities will go on to make their own inventions. ★

Frederick County Public Libraries

“Today a reader, tomorrow a leader.” - Margaret Fuller

With nine Frederick County Public Library branches throughout the county, FCPS students need not look far for a great book to read or an innovative program to participate in. The new Middletown Library is projected to open in early 2024.

Library cards are free to all students. And by using this Student Success Card, our students can check out up to five print items at one time.

Even if students can't get to a brick-and-mortar library branch, they have access to online materials and library programs.

This partnership also gives students an opportunity to participate in the Scripps Howard National Spelling Bee and summer reading programs.

The C. Burr Artz Library in Frederick, along picturesque Carroll Creek Linear Park, is one of the most frequently visited spots in the county.

Students can do everything from checking out a new novel to researching projects and everything in between.

For generations, FCPL has been our literacy partner, and FCPS looks forward to future collaborations to benefit students. ★

Job Corps

Students and families who may benefit from alternative educational programs can benefit from an official new partnership between FCPS and Job Corps.

The mission of Maryland/Woodstock-based Job Corps is to teach eligible youths the skills they need to become employable and independent, with the goal of placing them in meaningful jobs or future educational opportunities.

This partnership is intended to create a common sense of purpose by setting mutually agreed upon objectives relative to the school system's Strategic Goals.

The objectives of this partnership are two-fold: first, to educate FCPS staff, students, and families regarding Job Corps resources and opportunities for further education. Secondly, to provide supports for students and families who may benefit from alternative educational programs.

“Woodstock Job Corps is proud to be able to extend our reach to promote vocational training services in the Frederick County Public School System,” said Miquela Kriskovich, Outreach Manager for Job Corps. “In previous years, our campus has not had the opportunity to serve students in this area. We look forward to working closely with FCPS to provide an alternative education and training opportunity for those who may be interested in vocational trade.”

Job Corps is committed to offering all students a safe and secure environment. Through a Zero Tolerance Student Conduct Policy, the organization strives to provide all participants with an environment that is free from experiences of harassment, bullying, violence and drug use. ★

SECURING A BRIGHT FUTURE

Career Signing Day

Signing Day in high school used to be all about sports – which student athletes are going to play for what college. Now, at least for FCPS, Signing Day is also about careers.

The 2023 Career and Technical Education (CTE) Signing Day occurred last May. The objective was to celebrate and recognize high school students who will be graduating, having completed a CTE program of study, and who will directly enter the workforce or some form of post-secondary training that is directly connected to workforce development.

Signing Day also highlights the many lucrative opportunities for students, so parents understand the value of alternatives to a four-year college. And, the event encourages businesses to engage with students prior to graduation to help fulfill their workforce needs, while encouraging students to continue to strive for excellence as their high school career ends and their future career begins.

Businesses that participated in the ceremony included: All Around Plumbing, All Cool Refrigerant Reclaim, Beltway Companies, BOPAT Electric, Fitzgerald Auto Mall, Frederick Subaru, KLS Home Improvement, Krietz Customs and O'Connor Plumbing.

Students and prospective employers publicly signed non-binding letters of intent, similar to the college athletes Signing Day. ★

Living Well Youth Works

FCPS students and the general public enjoyed numerous special conversations this spring during the Passing the Torch Career Speaker Series.

The weekly program was offered by FCPS and the local organization Living Well Youth Works (LWYW). Professionals in the Frederick community explained to students and others in attendance some of the many career paths available to them.

Careers highlighted during the series included: architect, attorney, board of education member, college vice-president, county council member, physician, restaurant owner and university professor.

Living Well Youth Works is dedicated to empowering teenagers of all backgrounds to grow into productive members of society. The non-profit group teaches proven life skills, exposes teens to new possibilities and provides realistic pathways for improving personal and academic livelihoods.

“This partnership with Frederick County Public Schools will allow Living Well Youth Works to forge relationships with parents, administrators and students to learn more about the needs of our young people so that we can help students overcome obstacles and reach their full potential,” said Clifton Jackson, LWYW Executive Director.

After much anticipation, Living Well Youth Works announced in October the launch of a Life Skills Development Course for young women in middle and high school, ages 12-17. The first semester runs through February, 2024 and will include a four-lesson introduction to the curriculum, six lessons on confidence building and five lessons on communication. ★

Nymeo Federal Credit Union

FCPS and Nymeo Federal Credit Union have renewed a partnership agreement to support students, staff and community.

As part of the agreement, the company will continue to sponsor the FCPS Community Resource Fair as well as a “Millionaires Club” to support a financial literacy program for students.

“Nymeo has been a long-time partner in sponsoring programs like “Millionaires Club” and “Start-Up Frederick,” said Kim Day, FCPS Elementary Social Studies Curriculum Specialist and STEM coordinator. “We deeply appreciate the continued support and collaboration with Nymeo, as we work together to provide financial literacy opportunities for all students and prepare them for lifelong success.”

Founded in 1933, Nymeo Federal Credit Union now serves more than 23,000 members in Frederick and Montgomery Counties.

“We are pleased to again formalize our partnership with FCPS,” said company President and CEO Vicki Johnston. “As a community credit union based in Frederick, we have created products and services to specifically help FCPS staff and families. Nymeo is committed to supporting education, especially in financial literacy.”

Through this partnership, Nymeo will provide youth apprenticeship opportunities for students interested in careers in finance. This endeavor will help FCPS expand its opportunities for students seeking real-life business experience. ★

Sleep in Heavenly Peace

A Good Night Leads to a Great Day

Rock Creek School students participated in “Walk and Roll Your Way to a Good Night’s Sleep and a Nutritious Morning” last spring, a fundraiser supporting FCPS community partner Sleep in Heavenly Peace. The nonprofit builds, assembles and delivers bunk beds to children and families in need. Sleep in Heavenly Peace believes the health and happiness of a child is impacted when they do not have a proper place to sleep.

During the fundraiser, Rock Creek School partnered with the Walkersville Middle School Student Government Association to collect donations of nonperishable breakfast items for the Glade Valley Food Bank, bedding and monetary donations. Students raised $880 and helped build beds for the nonprofit organization. ★

Baltimore Ravens & Under Armour

Girls Flag Football

In many corners of the fall sports season, football is king. Well, in Frederick County high school sports, fall is now also queen! FCPS could not be more excited that some 200 students representing all 10 county high schools participated in the inaugural girls' flag football season.

The first game of the year, between Tuscarora and Brunswick, had an exciting atmosphere, with a big crowd filling the bleachers at Frederick High. Adding to the excitement was the presence of the Baltimore Ravens' cheerleaders and mascot. They led the two teams onto the field through a Ravens tunnel as fireworks lit up the sky, in a showcase where every team got to play.

The Ravens and Under Armour partnered with FCPS to provide custom uniforms for the 10 teams. Under Armour will host a championship game at its Baltimore headquarters at the end of the season, and the FCPS champion (Middletown High) will be recognized at M&T Bank Stadium during the Ravens' game (December 10) against the Los Angeles Rams.

What's next for flag football? The hope is that the new FCPS league will inspire other counties across the state to take up the sport. Supporters eventually may see girls' teams competing for state championships, just as the boys do in varsity football. ★

Special Olympics Maryland

Learning For Life

Tuscarora High School earned national banner recognition as a Special Olympics Unified Champion School for its efforts to provide inclusive sports and activities for all students. The honor was bestowed as a result of meeting national standards of excellence in the areas of inclusion, advocacy and respect.

“We are so proud of the Tuscarora High community for becoming the second FCPS school to earn this prestigious honor,” FCPS Superintendent Dr. Cheryl L. Dyson said. “It embodies the considerable effort made to provide opportunities for all students.”

Tuscarora High and Twin Ridge Elementary have both earned national banner recognition from the Special Olympics. More than 250 schools in Maryland are currently participating in Special Olympics Unified Champion programming. Special Olympics Unified Champion Schools aim to expand to 10,000 schools throughout the country by the end of the 2023-24 school year.

Tuscarora High takes great pride in the school’s unified sports program and the efforts of student athletes and their partners to maintain a program that teaches skills, sportsmanship, friendship, and community. Tuscarora participates in unified tennis, bocce, and track and field. Last year, the Tuscarora High unified bocce team won the 2023 Special Olympics Maryland state championship, which took place after Tuscarora students and staff lined the school’s halls to clap and cheer the team on its way to the competition.

THS also boasts a “Best Buddies” club, which allows for all students to plan inclusive events during and after school. This helps generate genuine relationships and meaningful social activities.

“Receiving this prestigious award from the Special Olympics honors the commitment of the Tuscarora High staff, students and community for creating a culture where all students are included,” Tuscarora High principal Lisa Smith said. ★
